A visit to the Centre will be arranged to familiarize you and your child with our program and staff. If teachers have concerns about your child's readiness to begin our program they will recommend a 3-day to 1-week trial period to further assess. After the trial the Supervisor will meet with you to set a start date or to set goals to work on for a future admission date.

There is a period of adjustment during the first 3 months of care. This type of group care, with the large space, family grouping, and transitions, may not suit all children. The teachers will assess the situation and communicate on an on-going basis, especially if your child is unhappy or not thriving in our program.
